

The Federal Communications Commission

Dear The Federal Communications Commission,

I am a student of Kent Stark struggling to recieve social security, disability and good health. Because of almost no immune system, I am constantly overwhelmed with medical debt and transpertation costs. My health keeps me from having a normal life, including a job. I desperatly rely on my low cost, tracfone service to keep in touch with my doctors on a weekly basis. Please don't take this away from me!

I do not want to pay more for my telephone service! I urge you to reject a flat fee proposal that would change how contributions are made to the Universal Service Fund. I am concerned that this proposal could make my current service unaffordable.

Under the flat fee proposal you are considering, people who make few long distance calls would pay the same as people or businesses that make many calls. In other words, low-volume and primarily residential customers would bear the same universal service fund burden as a high-volume residential or business customers. This is completely unfair!

I use my wireless phone for safety, security and medical services. I don't want to lose these benefits so that big businesses can pay less than their fair share. I urge you to reject the proposal to move the USF collection system to a flat-fee.

Please consider my statement

Sincerely,

Kacey Bake
